

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A microelectronic package is fabricated by a process which includes folding a substrate. A substrate is folded by engaging a folding portion of the substrate with a die so that the folding portion pivots with respect to a first portion of the substrate.

448962_1.DOC